5 Steps to Import with FedEx

As an experienced international importer, FedEx helps you to prevent costly customs delays for your shipments.

Step 1 : Notified by Overseas Shippers

- An overseas shipper places an order and sends a shipment to you.
- The shipper can notify you of the International Air Waybill numbers and product details by using FedEx Ship Manager® at fedex.com, Ship Alert®, or online tracking notification function.
- If the freight charges are billed to you as a recipient our integrated billing system allows you to pay by using one account number.

Step 2 : Check Estimated Duties and Taxes

- The amount of duties and taxes will depend on the type of commodity, product value, country of manufacture, and application of product.
- Details can be found on our website: <https://www.fedex.com/GTM>. Then click on “Estimate Duties and Taxes”. Although sign up to access is required, the service is free of charge for multiple queries with no limitations.

Step 3 : Track Your Shipment

- You can track your shipment status and get automated tracking updates (exception and delivery notification) by using our online tracking system that offers a selection of 16 different languages.
- You can email the tracking details to the shipper and 3 other parties.

Step 4 : Receive Shipment

- FedEx provides fast and smooth clearance to your shipments.
- FedEx offers a free import license application service for international textiles shipment which have detailed product descriptions clearly marked on the FedEx International Air Waybill and Commercial Invoice.
- Most of your inbound shipments will enjoy our 12:00 delivery commitment.

Step 5 : Make Import Declaration

- After receiving a shipment, you must lodge an import declaration within 14 calendar days.
