TEN FEDEX DRIVERS EARN HONORS
AT THE MISSOURI STATE TRUCK DRIVING CHAMPIONSHIP
Winners Demonstrate Commitment to Safety and Professionalism

ST. LOUIS – June 8, 2009 – Ten drivers representing FedEx Corp. (NYSE: FDX) operating companies placed among the winners at the 2009 Missouri State Truck Driving Championship in St. Louis on June 5-6.

- Joe Mangiaracino, a driver for FedEx Freight based in St. Clair, captured the top spot in the 3-Axle class to earn his fourth state title since 2003. He also won the coveted Grand Champion title for achieving the highest score among the winners of each class
- FedEx Freight driver Jon Hume (St. Louis) won the Tank Truck class.
- FedEx Express driver Greg Kauffmann (Hazelwood) won the top spot in the Straight Truck class.
- Columbia based-FedEx Freight driver Rick Surrisi earned first place in the Step Van class.
- FedEx Ground contractor Matthew Meadows (St. Louis) and FedEx Express driver John Aquino (Kansas City) finished second and third, respectively, in the Step Van class.
- FedEx National LTL driver Larry O'Neal (St. Louis) was second in the Twins class.
- FedEx Express drivers Mike Meyer (Hazelwood) and John Barney (Berkeley) were second and third, respectively, in the 3-Axle class.
- Willow Springs-based FedEx Freight driver Jody Arnall posted a third-place finish in the Straight Truck class.

In addition, FedEx Freight captured the Team Trophy.

Mangiaracino, Hume, Kauffmann and Surrisi will go on to compete at the American Trucking Associations' 2009 National Truck Driving Championships (NTDC), known as the "Super Bowl of Safety" August 18-22, 2009 in Pittsburgh. In addition, each state winner will be recognized by FedEx as part of its safe driving initiative, The Chairman's Challenge.

The Missouri State Truck Driving Championship is an opportunity for professional truck drivers to demonstrate their driving skills and commitment to safety. The event includes a difficult driving skills test, pre-trip inspection and written examination covering vehicle operation and knowledge of federal safety regulations.

In 2008, 70 driving professionals from 36 states representing FedEx Freight, FedEx National LTL, FedEx Ground, FedEx Express and FedEx Custom Critical qualified to compete at the National Truck Driving Championships by winning their respective state's competition and driving accident-free for at least one year. FedEx drivers captured National Champion titles in the Tank Truck, 4-Axle and Twins classes and the NTDC Rookie of the Year honor. In addition, FedEx drivers earned three additional top-three finishes in their respective vehicle classes.
