FOUR FEDEX DRIVERS EARN HONORS
AT THE WASHINGTON STATE TRUCK DRIVING CHAMPIONSHIP
Winners Demonstrate Commitment to Safety and Professionalism

SEATTLE – June 15, 2009 – Four drivers representing FedEx Corp. (NYSE: FDX) operating companies placed among the winners at the 2009 Washington State Truck Driving Championship in Seattle on June 13.

- FedEx Ground contractor Tony Todd, based in Seattle, captured the title in the Step Van class.
- FedEx Freight driver Vic Skoglund, domiciled in Everett, was second in the Tank Truck class.
- FedEx Ground contractor Michael Burkhart (Seattle) finished third in the Step Van class.
- Ed Sutherland, a driver for FedEx Ground contractor Bradley Teeter (Everett), was third in the Twins class.

Todd will go on to compete at the American Trucking Associations' 2009 National Truck Driving Championships (NTDC), known as the "Super Bowl of Safety" August 18-22, 2009 in Pittsburgh. In addition, each state winner will be recognized by FedEx as part of its safe driving initiative, The Chairman's Challenge.

The Washington State Truck Driving Championship is an opportunity for professional truck drivers to demonstrate their driving skills and commitment to safety. The event includes a difficult driving skills test, pre-trip inspection and written examination covering vehicle operation and knowledge of federal safety regulations.

In 2008, 70 driving professionals from 36 states representing FedEx Freight, FedEx National LTL, FedEx Ground, FedEx Express and FedEx Custom

Critical qualified to compete at the National Truck Driving Championships by winning their respective state's competition and driving accident-free for at least one year. FedEx drivers captured National Champion titles in the Tank Truck, 4-Axle and Twins classes and the NTDC Rookie of the Year honor. In addition, FedEx drivers earned three additional top-three finishes in their respective vehicle classes.
