Bookbinding

Turn any document into a professional paperback book. Ideal for training and policy manuals, directories, reports, and workbooks.

Booklet making

Bound with staples along the folded edge, this finishing touch is most commonly used for newsletters, bulletins and catalogs.

Coil binding

A continuous, spring-shaped piece of plastic, this durable, crush-resistant bind allows a bound document to lay flat.

Comb binding

This curled, comb-style bind allows for easy addition and removal of pages. This option is ideal for reports and manuals.

Cutting and drilling

We can cut your copies to half-size or in quarters. We'll also drill your copies for storing in three-ring binders.

Folding

All FedEx Kinko's locations offer machine and manual folding. Options include half-folds, tri-folds and z-folds.

Laminating

Protect and preserve important documents with a professional, spill-proof matte or glossy finish.

Mounting

Foam-board mounting adds stability and durability to your artwork, portfolio pieces, posters and presentations. It's ideal for wall-mounting or displaying on an easel or table.

Tape binding

Cloth tape is fused to your document along the left margin, forming a spine similar to a paperback book.

Wire binding

Enable readers to turn pages easily and books to lie flat when open with durable wire binding.
